Fairymen's Night Classes Will Be Conducted Here

First Session to Be Held Jan. 11, at Antioch Township High School

A similar course to the one held in winter of 1943 on "Increasing Production" will be conducted at the Antioch Township High School. This year the subject is "Increasing Milk Production". The course will be held up, according to C. L. Kuttel, is to have charge of the instruction.

There are several new and outstanding developments in the dairy industry and with the ever increasing demand for more and more dairy products, the course this year is timely and should prove of much value to the members of this section.

Several experts will be secured as special instructors to supplement the work of Instructor Kuttel. Motion pictures will also be used to supplement the instructions.

Some of the subjects to be discussed are:

- (1) Artificial Insemination
- (2) Control of Mastitis
- (3) Dairy Herd Improvement
- (4) Winter Feeding of Dairy Cows
- (5) Care of the Pregnant Cow to Secure Good Calving.

Series of 10

The first lesson will be given Jan. 11 and nine others will follow, being held on Thursday nights, one each week for ten weeks.

Advance enrollment is not necessary but Kuttel would appreciate hearing from those who plan to attend. Call him at Antioch 298 or drop a postal card telling him about your intention to enroll.

Lions Are Hosts to Ladies at Annual Fete

Fifty-five were present at the annual "Ladies' Night" party at which the Antioch Lions club was host to the wives and lady friends of members last evening at Kellogg's newly decorated "Spa" on State Line road and Highway 45.

A turkey dinner was enjoyed, with dancing afterward.

Harry J. Krueger acted as chairman of the committee for the affair, with George Wagner as co-chairman.

ANTIOCH MEN SERVE WITH FAST-MOVING REGIMENT

From headquarters of the Sixth Army group, France: The 399th Infantry regiment of the 100th (Century) division set some kind of record for the speed with which it said goodbye to the East river and hello to the Rhine.

Some of the men in the regiment marched down Fifth avenue in New York City to help inaugurate the Fifth War Bond drive, and they were in action on the U. S. 7th Army front in eastern France when they read about the results of the same drive.

Arriving in France on Oct. 20, the men, commanded by Col. Andrew W. Wyehson of Haddonfield, N. J., spent several days assembling their equipment and regaining their land legs.

"We also saw plenty of Jap planes and helped shoot them down, and derived a great deal of pleasure out of same."

"You could really see them blow up like fire crackers and disappear into the depth of Leyte gulf, where they rejoined their honorable ancestors, once again."

"I imagine that if there was anyone else from my neck of the woods in on this operation, they will really have a lot to tell when they come back, and I am sure they will never forget. It was really some sight."

"As I may not be able to send Christmas cards, I am calling on the paper this year to extend my greetings to all for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

T/5 James A. Schultz, son of Mrs. John Faber, Salem, Wis., and grandson of Ray Smith, Antioch, completed his second year in the service this Christmas. He has been overseas for the past year, in the southwest Pacific area.

Heart Ailment Proves Fatal to Adolph Zajicek

Funeral Services for Lake Catherine Man Will Be Held in Chicago

Stricken with an acute heart attack as he sat with a cribbage board before him at a table in his Lake Catherine home, Adolph Zajicek, 57, died Tuesday evening shortly after 8 o'clock.

Neighbors, including Otto Dolar, a life-long friend, John Gaa and Walter Solomon, rushed to the home in answer to a call by Mrs. Zajicek when he was stricken, and Dr. L. Breakstone and the Antioch Rescue squad sped to the scene with oxygen tanks and other emergency equipment, but all efforts to revive him proved futile.

Born in Chicago, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zajicek of that city and was a carpenter by trade. For the last four years he had made his home at Lake Catherine, and was well liked throughout this region.

Surviving are his wife, Eleanor Dusek Zajicek; their son, Pvt. Joseph Zajicek of Wright field, Dayton, O.; their daughter-in-law Frances and grandsons Robert and Thomas. A sister, Mrs. Anna Hrusa, and a brother, Jerome, live in Chicago.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. in the chapel at 2534 South Pulaski road, with interment in the National Bohemian cemetery.

ASHES ON THE SLIDE - By COLLIER

Fall, Automobile Accident are Among Rescue Squad Calls

Joseph Jautchier, 72, Hurt in Fall; Ernie Johnson Struck by Car

Two Channel Lake calls were answered by the Antioch Rescue squad Saturday evening.

At 6 p. m. the squad was summoned when Joseph Jautchier, 72, fell on an outdoor stairway, sustaining a broken nose, bruises, and a lacerated finger. First aid was administered and he was brought to Antioch by a friend to receive additional treatment from Dr. L. L. Breakstone.

While attempting to flag down an automobile to secure a "push" for his own stalled vehicle, Ernie Johnson, 53, of Lake Marie was struck and badly injured as the car he was trying to stop went into a skid when the driver applied the brakes.

The accident occurred in front of Adolph's Channel Inn on Highway 173, from which the driver of the car that struck Johnson put in a call for the rescue squad.

Traction splints were furnished by the squad, working in cooperation with Dr. Breakstone, who had also been summoned, and Johnson was taken to Victory Memorial hospital in Waukegan.

The squad was called at 8:20 p. m. Tuesday to the home of Adolph Zajicek, Lake Catherine, who suffered a heart attack to which he succumbed before the first aid men reached the residence. Zajicek had sustained a heart attack a few days earlier, but had been considered somewhat improved.

ANTIOCH MAN AIDS IN ARTILLERY OBSERVATION

From headquarters of the Sixth Army group, France, comes the following release:

Artillery barrage preparations that opened the French First army's drive along the Swiss border to the Rhine smashed and neutralized enemy artillery and fortifications in the Belfort Gap region.

The planning that directed that barrage and the location of the German guns that were smashed before they could hinder the drive was just a part of the day's work for the First Field Artillery Observation battalion, which is working with the French First army in France.

Using "sound and flash" methods, the soldiers of this battalion located enemy batteries accurately and quickly. When it was time for the drive to start, American and French artillerymen, working side-by-side, quickly smashed the enemy's big guns.

"One story of how effective our location was is that an enemy battery fired a couple of rounds to show an inspecting German general staff how good they were," Major E. J. Morris, Jr., Sylacauga, Ala., battalion commander, explained. "But no sooner did they fire than we replied. Our location had been perfect and the Yank shells landed right on the target and wiped out the battery and its visitors."

The battalion commander went on to explain that their job is to "gather information to neutralize enemy artillery activity during the critical phase of operations and to supply survey for artillery."

The battalion has been in the line continuously, except for periods of

GAGGING A CRITIC.

Upon Close, radio news commentator, asserts that he is being forced off the air by the National Broadcasting company at the behest of radical and communist elements. Close was under contract to the Sheaffer Pen company. His sponsors were satisfied with his program, but the broadcasting company has left them with no option, for, after renewing his contract for 52 weeks only two weeks ago, NBC is putting Close on the shelf as of Dec. 10.

Close asserts that pressure was put on NBC because of his broadcast last Sunday on "the danger of communism." It is worth noting, however, that Close has been one of the most energetic critics of the New Deal and that his opposition to the fourth term was unrelenting. The Communists were closely allied with the New Deal in the campaign which is just over and, in opposing the coalition, Mr. Close undoubtedly made enemies whose influence has never been greater or whose arrogance more unbounded than they are now.

NBC has refused to discuss Mr. Close's charges, but it is well understood that the broadcasting industry is subject to government control and that NBC has had occasion to learn that the government is not reluctant to exercise its powers. Under the circumstances, it is understandable that the company should feel a certain timidity when it comes to giving offense to the administration. No one could be certain that reprisals might not be in prospect.

There is a further aspect of the problem which carries even graver implications. That is the declared intolerance of any form of criticism by an administration whose power has been extended over an unprecedented span of 16 years. The spirit was expressed in the post-election attack of Harold Ickes upon the press because the overwhelming majority of newspapers had opposed Mr. Roosevelt's continued tenure. The process of suppressing dissent is moving apace and the gagging of Mr. Close can be interpreted as only one of its manifestations. The press must be on its guard, for it can be prophesied that the attack against it has only begun.

moving to new positions, since December, 1942, reportedly longer than any other American unit since 1865. This battalion is also the oldest American field artillery observation battalion in the army, according to officers of the organization.

Soldiers in the battalion include Cpl. Glenn W. Fox, route 2, Antioch.

Mrs. John Atkinson has been engaged to teach the fourth grade at Antioch Grade school after the holidays. She replaces Mrs. Pauline Lund, who is returning to her home in Florida.

Mrs. Gus Mantis and children, Diane and George, are visiting Mrs. Mantis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Lappas, Chicago, until the first part of February.

Leila Anderson Dies Dec. 23 of Lingering Illness

Services Are Held in Chicago for Wife of C. K. Anderson of Antioch

Following quiet funeral services held in the People's church, Chicago, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the body of Leila Jeanette Anderson of Andevilla, Lake Catherine, was entombed in Rosehill mausoleum.

In tribute to Mrs. Anderson, who was the wife of C. K. Anderson, its president, the First National Bank of Antioch was closed at noon Tuesday and remained closed through the afternoon.

Flowers were omitted at the request of the family, but many from this area journeyed to Chicago to pay their last respects at the services or at the chapel at 5501 North Ashland avenue, where the body lay in state until Tuesday at 11 a. m.

Acting as pallbearers were Edmund F. Vos, Antioch; William M. Marks, Lake Villa; A. O. Johnson, Henry Burhop, Lyle Shinn and T. H. Harrison, Chicago. Honorary pallbearers were E. M. Runyard, Waukegan; W. F. Harrah, Niles, Mich.; W. M. Stickney and J. C. Kircher, Chicago.

Was "Belle" of 1890's

Mrs. Anderson, who as Miss Leila Williams was known in the 1890's as a talented musician and was active in the social life of Antioch and Chicago, was among the young Chicago area beauties who were featured in newspaper artists' sketches for society columns of that day.

She had been ill for some time, but word of her death Dec. 23 was nevertheless a shock to the many friends she had made during her lifetime.

She was born in Chicago March 17, 1876, and was the daughter of the late Edwin Booth and Matilda Reese Williams, who moved to Antioch a short time later and were long active in the business and community life of the region.

Survivors, in addition to her husband, include their daughter, Lorraine, who is Mrs. William E. Schroeder of Evanston, and five grandchildren.

Those attending the services from here included Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hatendorf, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Nelson, Dr. R. D. Williams, Mrs. Vera Rentner, Mrs. Carl Nadr, Mrs. Hilma Lightsey, Mrs. Emil Steiskal, Mrs. Emil Lohkeman, Miss Charlene Jorgensen, Miss Betty Lou Williams, Russell Barnstable, E. J. Sletten, Harry J. Krueger.

AIR FORCE EXAMINING BOARD SAYS "THANKS!"

From the Army Air Force Examining board, 166 West Van Buren street, Chicago 4, Ill.—

Dear Editor,

Now that the Army Air Force Examining board, as such, has ceased to function, time permits reflection on past accomplishments, and it becomes evident that it is to such people like you that we owe our success.

All of which goes to say thanks for the help of you and your associates in the board's public relations.

I appreciate the ready personal help you folks gave me. You've humored my whims, suffered my occasional peccadillo. You not only used our stuff in your columns but also have sent us copies of your papers.

Since Oct. 31, when Air Corps Enlisted reserve procurement ended, we have participated in publicizing the Army Specialized Training Reserve program. The same assistance given us through space in your paper for the ACER continued with our ASTRP publicity. Incidentally, you should take us off your mailing list at the end of this month, when the ASTRP will be discontinued.

It may interest you to know that in Chicago we qualified 35,319 youths from this area for flight training. This number was obtained during a period starting March, 1942 and ending this October. Actual enlistments by the board totaled 29,166 young men 17 to 26. These figures easily top records of all other examining boards in the nation.

We cannot determine what showing we will make in our ASTRP procurement, but your help certainly has given it impetus.

A special individual letter should go to everyone of you who has been instrumental in establishing our board's fine record. But time and reduced personnel prohibit such evidence of our gratitude.

Your contribution to the army has been great. The Chicago board appreciates your support. My association with you in this work is valued.

"Keep 'em Flying!"

1945 Fertilizer

Washington, D. C.—The amount of phosphate fertilizer available for 1945 crops will be smaller than earlier estimates, the War Food Administration has announced.

WFA officials state that military demands for sulphuric acid appear to be such that less acid will be available for superphosphate production that had been estimated previously.

The new estimate, based on sulphuric acid supply figures from the War Production Board, is a little less than 8,500,000 tons of superphosphate (18% equivalent), as compared with the estimate of 7,000,000 announced in October and last year's supply of 7,600,000 tons.

The reduced supply of superphosphate may cause a reduction in the production of mixed fertilizers, WFA officials say.

The WFA does not plan to change the approved fertilizer grades, which provide for high plant food content. However, WFA officials said, farmers will have a better chance of getting the desired grade in the desired amount if they order and accept delivery of fertilizer immediately.

Not only mixed goods, but also materials used for direct application, should be bought now, officials said.

No recent changes have been reported in the overall supply situations for nitrogen, which is scarce in relation to requirements, and potash, which is relatively plentiful. However, there have been changes in the outlook for various nitrogen compounds. For this reason, WFA officials say, farmers whose crops do better on one form of nitrogen than another will stand a better chance of getting what they need if they order and accept delivery without delay.

We Must Not Fail

Someday the war is going to end. Someday millions of American men will come home from across the seas, and again the danger will be faced that the people of a weary United States will wash their hands of international problems. If they succumb to that danger, they will probably never have another grace period in which to muddle through a "preparedness program" such as they have had in the last two wars.

Now, before the war is over, before the danger of a weary reaction sets in, is the time to help create an effective peace organization and to help lay the groundwork for dissolving archaic trade barriers.

The late Wendell Willkie spoke from the heart when he said: "I was a soldier in the last war, and after that war was over I saw our bright dreams disappear, our stirring slogans become the jests of the cynical, and all because the fighting peoples did not arrive at any common postwar purposes while they fought. It must be our resolve to see that this does not happen again."

While they fight, the people of the world must come to a common understanding of what they fight for and what they hope for. Millions have already died in this war and many thousands more will go before it is over. Unless Britons and Canadians, and Russians and Chinese and Americans and all our fighting Allies, in the common cooperation of war, find the instrumentalities and the methods of cooperative effort after the war, we, the people, have failed our time and our generation.

Tannin Stains
Tannin stains are among the commonest and—when left for some time or subjected to heat or the alkali in soap—the stubbornest stains cleaners have to contend with. For years there has been a $1,000 reward outstanding for the answer to the tannin stain problem. So far it has not been awarded.

Lt. Shirley Hollenbeck Murphy of the Army Nurses' corps (serving in a hospital train in France) writes to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen L. Hollenbeck, Millburn—

"Thanksgiving Day the majority of us spent sleeping after having patients aboard 18 hours. I had as many as 40 penicillin shots to give every four hours and the rest of the girls had equally as many. We ended up having everyone helping, even the doctor. So, we had our turkey dinner the next day. We had another load of patients then, too, but they didn't require so much attention and we were able to enjoy the dinner. As usual I ate too much.

"Last week we purchased a bottle of wine for everyone and we had that with our dinner. Not having any sage to make bread dressing, the cooks made cornbread and made a delicious dressing out of that.

"The station where we were able to get a hot tub bath, so that is our main objective on arrival."

In another letter she observes—
"They have kept us pretty busy on the run. Not such hard work as busy and long hours."

"I don't know of any nicer assignment one could have than this—such a splendid opportunity to see the country. Keeps us much confused by the different money. The Belgian franc is worth more than the Dutch. Suppose very soon we will see the German mark to figure out. Because of the cooking facilities, I can't serve more than one or two servings a day. The menus are sandwiches, creamed chicken, fish or turkey, fruit cocktail or fruit, fruit, ices, coffee, cereal and hard candy. The Red Cross furnishes cigarettes and gum. The patients arrive in—tho' Cross comes on the train and coffee and doughnuts.

The ward cars each hold 33 patients on litters. The patients are carried in and the litters placed on one on the floor, two up above. We have a surgery car with pharmacy, well equipped, operating room, scrub room and lavatory. There is one coach for ambulatory patients—double seats with tables. These patients have to sit up the whole trip. Usually by 11 p. m. we can find them on top or under tables and in aisle—leave it to a nurse to find a way to sleep. The kitchen is very small but comfortable.

The trains are engineered by railroad men or by G. I.s—a combination of both, which is best, because they get confused on the signals and often we are out of bed and everything that comes lands face down on the floor. The cooks have a great time to bake custard about that time.

Note—Must be nice for the boys.

UNIT IS TOO BUSY

—V—
The 12th Army Air force base in this dispatch, which was also in Stars and Stripes magazine. One of this veteran A-20 Havoc had planned a party to mark the end of their second year overseas. When Sept. 5 rolled around, few gave the day more than a passing thought.

Everybody from the group came. Col. Malcolm Green, Jr., of Antioch, on down was too busy in the war news, too busy getting as many licks as possible to the enemy groggy. This work pleasure if they had the time, no one that paid off in Sicily, Italy and Southern

The group had come a long way since activation at McCord field, Wash., in January, 1941. At that time the skeleton organization had only a few old B-18s. The A-20 Havocs, misnamed Bostons, were received in time for the North Carolina maneuvers of July and August, 1942.

The first big overseas test came when the Afrika Korps broke through Kasserine Pass. Through the entire rain-soaked day, the Havocs raked and bombed the jammed roads leading to the pass as ack-ack poured down on them from the canyon walls. Worn out combat crews and groundsmen had their reward in this short message from the Army: "The enemy is in retreat as a result of your bombing."

Later in the Tunisian war, the group blasted the enemy's key airport of La Fauconnerie, dishing out such damage in repeated attacks that it is credited with a large share of the Luftwaffe's destruction in Africa. It later took part in the air conquest of Pantellaria.

The only U. S. bomb group to operate from Malta, the group was in the front of the Sicilian battle. The main target for their telling and hazardous attacks was La Schiaccia airdrome.

In March, the A-20s began to build up their reputation as the crack ammo supply and petrol dump destroyers of TAF. Havoc pilots looked on themselves as the middleman between close support and strategic forces. Heavies bombed enemy supply sources, mediums and fighter bombers blocked roads and wrecked convoys leading to the front and Havocs took care of supplies that managed to trickle through the air blockade.

Lately, the A-20s have been switched to the night shift. Serving as intruders, their new job is to catch enemy transport as it tries to move under cover of darkness.

Col. Green's boys have carried out most of the "nicking" or propaganda leaflet dropping behind enemy lines. A third job is that of dropping supplies to ground units. Last winter they delivered the goods in belly-tanks, but it was found that most of the supplies were wrecked in high-speed delivery.

In all, the group has turned in a total of 1,150 missions and 12,000 sorties during the past two years.

Picturebook Land

Rural Ireland is a picturebook land—clean, quiet, green glimmering with glossy lakes and streams, bright with scarlet fuchsias, rambling roses, golden gorse, and purple heather. Above its white, stone cottages swirls the blue smoke of peat fires. White stone "ditches" wall its twisting lanes leading to storied hills and doles.

Remember, the supply lines in the Pacific are long and your fighting men will need more material than was required for the entire European invasion to crush the Jap foe.

Let's Echo that cry with BONDS!

Our boys won't quit until they've reached their goal. Let's not stop buying Bonds until we've reached ours! In this 6th War Loan Drive, the Nation's goal is $14 billions ... our individual job is to buy at least an extra $100 Bond ...

another and then another

... let's keep on going ...

let's keep on buying ...

let's keep on saying it with Bonds... "On to Tokyo!"
